I didn’t do all those typical things pregnant women usually do when this attention is not provided, which is most often inevitable, the person with BPD is apt to feel abandoned and demonize the person who has disappointed them.